Projects

Stages - Website for Mobile Application

Stages Recovery Centers is a project that I developed on WordPress, aimed at providing a comprehensive platform for individuals seeking recovery from addiction. The website serves as a crucial resource hub, offering information about Stages Recovery's treatment programs, services, and facilities. It features user-friendly navigation, intuitive design elements, and integration with essential functionalities such as appointment scheduling and contact forms. By leveraging WordPress's flexibility and customization options, I ensured the site meets both aesthetic and functional requirements, supporting Stages Recovery's mission to provide compassionate care and support to those on their journey to sobriety.

The Mixed Space

Developed a comprehensive online platform celebrating mixed race and intersectional identities. The site features monthly meetups, blogs, and resources aimed at fostering community and dialogue. Created a user-friendly, inclusive environment that empowers individuals by providing a brave space for sharing experiences and building connections.

Key Contributions:

- Designed and implemented the website's architecture and user interface.
- Integrated multimedia content and community engagement tools.
- Enhanced accessibility and mobile responsiveness.
